PART V

PROCEDURAL LAW

Search and Seizure

28. (1) If a magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a police officer supported by affidavit that there are reasonable grounds or to suspect or to believe that there may be in a place a thing or computer data:
- (a) that may be material as evidence in proving an offence; or
  - (b) that has been acquired by a person as a result of an offence;
- the judge or magistrate may issue a warrant authorizing a [law enforcement or police officer, with such assistance as may be necessary, to enter the place to search and seize the thing or computer data including search or similarly access:
- i) a computer system or part of it and computer data stored therein; and
  - ii) a computer-data storage medium in which computer data may be stored
- in the territory of Lesotho.
- (2) If a police officer that is undertaking a search based on Section 28(1) has grounds to believe that the data sought is stored in another computer system or part of it in its territory, and such data is lawfully accessible from or available to the initial system, he shall be able to expeditiously extend the search or similar accessing to the other system.
- (3) A police officer that is undertaking a search is empowered to seize or similarly secure computer data accessed according to sub-sections (1) or (2).

- Assistance 29. (1) Any person, who is not a suspect of a crime or otherwise excluded from an obligation to follow such order, but who has knowledge about the functioning of the computer system or measures applied to protect the computer data therein that is the subject of a search under section 28 must permit, and assist if reasonably required and requested by the person authorized to make the search by:
- (a) providing information that enables the undertaking of measures referred to in section 28;
  - (b) accessing and using a computer system or computer data storage medium to search any computer data available to or in the system;
  - (c) obtaining and copying such computer data;
  - (d) using equipment to make copies; and
  - (e) obtaining an intelligible output from a computer system in such a format that is admissible for the purpose of legal proceedings.
- Production Order 30. If magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a law enforcement officer or police officer that specified computer data, or a printout or other information, is reasonably required for the purpose of a criminal investigation or criminal proceedings, the magistrate may order that:
- (a) a person in the territory of Kingdom of Lesotho in control of a computer system produce from the system specified computer data or a printout or other intelligible output of that data; or
  - (b) an Internet service provider in Kingdom of Lesotho to produce information about persons who subscribe to or otherwise use the service.
- Expedited preservation 31. If a police officer is satisfied that there are grounds to believe that computer data that is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation is particularly vulnerable to loss or modification, the law enforcement or police officer may, by written notice given to a person in control of the computer data, require the person to ensure that the data specified in the notice be preserved for a period of up to seven (7) days as specified in the notice. The period may be extended beyond seven (7) days if, on an application a judge or magistrate authorizes an extension for a further specified period of time.
- Partial Disclosure of traffic data 32. If a police officer is satisfied computer data is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation, the law enforcement or police officer may, by written notice given to a person in control of the computer system, require the person to disclose relevant traffic data about a specified communications to identify:
- (a) the Internet service providers; and/or
  - (b) the path through which a communication was transmitted.

Collection of traffic data

33. (1) If a magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a police officer, supported by affidavit that there are reasonable grounds to suspect or believe that traffic data associated with a specified communication is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation, magistrate may order a person in control of such data to:
- (a) collect or record traffic data associated with a specified communication during a specified period; or
  - (b) permit and assist a specified police officer to collect or record that data.
- (2) If magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a police officer, supported by affidavit that there are reasonable grounds to suspect or believe that traffic data is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation, the magistrate may authorize a police officer to collect or record traffic data associated with a specified communication during a specified period through application of technical means.

Interception of content data

34. (1) If a magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a police officer, supported by affidavit that there are reasonable grounds to suspect or believe that the content of electronic communications is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation, the magistrate may:
- (a) order an Internet service provider whose service is available in Lesotho through application of technical means to collect or record or to permit or assist competent authorities with the collection or recording of content data associated with specified communications transmitted by means of a computer system; or
  - (b) authorize a police officer to collect or record that data through application of technical means.

Forensic Tool

35. (1) If a magistrate is satisfied on the basis of an application by a police officer, supported by affidavit that in an investigation concerning an offence listed in paragraph 7 herein-below or regulations made under Section 45 there are reasonable grounds to believe that essential evidence cannot be collected by applying other instruments listed in this Part but is reasonably required for the purposes of a criminal investigation, the magistrate may authorize a police officer to utilize a remote forensic tool with the specific task required for the investigation and install it on the suspect's computer system in order to collect the relevant evidence. The application needs to contain the following information:
- (a) suspect of the offence, if available with name and address if available, and
  - (b) description of the targeted computer system, and
  - (c) description of the intended measure, extent and duration of the utilization, and
  - (d) reasons for the necessity of the utilization.
- (2) It shall be a condition of the authorisation that such investigation shall ensure that modifications to the computer system of the suspect are limited to those modifications essential for the investigation and that any changes if possible can be undone after the end of the investigation. During the investigation it shall be necessary to log

(a) the technical means used and time and date of the application; and

(b) the identification of the computer system and details of the modifications undertaken within the investigation;

(c) any information obtained; and that

(d) Information obtained by the use of such tool shall be protected against any modification, unauthorized deletion and unauthorized access.

(3) The duration of authorization in section 35(1) shall be limited to 3 months. Where the conditions of the authorization are no longer met, the action taken shall be stopped immediately.

(4) The authorization to install the tool shall include remotely accessing the suspects computer system.

(5) Where the installation process requires physical access to a place the requirements of section 28 shall need to be fulfilled.

(6) A police officer may pursuant to the order of court granted in (1) above request that the court order an Internet service provider to support the installation process.

(7) The offences referred to in subsection (1) include:

i. Murder or Manslaughter or treason.

ii. Kidnapping or abduction.

iii. Money laundering contrary to the [proceeds of crime] Act.

iv. Producing, manufacturing, supplying or otherwise dealing in any dangerous drug in contravention of the [dangerous drugs] Act.

PART VI

LIABILITY

- No Monitoring
Obligation 36. When providing the services under this Part -
- (1) An Internet service provider shall have no general obligation to monitor the data which it transmits or stores; or actively seek facts or circumstances indicating an unlawful activity.
- The Minister may, subject to the provisions of any other law, prescribe procedures for service providers to
- (a) inform the competent public authorities of alleged illegal activities undertaken or information provided by recipients of their service; and
- (b) to communicate to the competent authorities, at their request, information enabling the identification of recipients of their service.
- Access Provider 37. (1) An access provider shall not be criminally liable for providing access and transmitting information on condition that the provider:
- (a) does not initiate the transmission;
- (b) does not select the receiver of the transmission; or
- (c) does not select or modify the information contained in the transmission.
- (2) The acts of transmission and of provision of access referred to in paragraph 1 include the automatic, intermediate and transient storage of the information transmitted in so far as this takes place for the sole purpose of carrying out the transmission in the communication network, and provided that the information is not stored for any period longer than is reasonably necessary for the transmission.
- Hosting
Provider 38. (1) A hosting provider shall not be criminally liable for the information stored at the request of a user of the service, on condition that:
- (a) the hosting provider expeditiously removes or disables access to the information after receiving an order from any public authority or court of law to remove specific illegal information stored; or
- (b) the hosting provider, upon obtaining knowledge or awareness about specific illegal information stored by other ways than an order from a public authority, expeditiously informs the Authority to enable them to evaluate the nature of the information and if necessary issue an order to remove the content.
- (2) Paragraph 1 shall not apply when the user of the service is acting under the authority or the control of the hosting provider.
- (3) Where the hosting provider removes the content after receiving an order pursuant to sub-section (1) no liability shall arise from contractual obligations with its customer to ensure the availability of the service.
- Caching
Provider 39. A caching provider shall not be criminally liable for the automatic, intermediate and temporary storage of that information, performed for the sole purpose of making more efficient the information's onward transmission to other users of the service upon their request, on condition that:

- (a) the caching provider does not modify the information;
- (b) the caching provider complies with conditions of access to the information;
- (c) the caching provider complies with rules regarding the updating of the information, specified in a manner widely recognised and used by industry;
- (d) the caching provider does not interfere with the lawful use of technology, widely recognised and used by industry, to obtain data on the use of the information; and
- (e) the caching provider acts expeditiously to remove or to disable access to the information it has stored upon obtaining actual knowledge of the fact that the information at the initial source of the transmission has been removed from the network, or access to it has been disabled, or that a court or the relevant authority has ordered such removal or disablement.

40. An Internet service provider who enables the access to information provided by a third person by providing an electronic hyperlink shall not be liable for the information where

Hyperlinks
Provider

- (a) the Internet service provider expeditiously removes or disables access to the information after receiving an order from any public authority or court to remove the link; or
- (b) the Internet service provider, upon obtaining knowledge or awareness about specific illegal information stored by other ways than an order from a public authority, expeditiously informs the relevant authority to enable them to evaluate the nature of the information and if necessary issue an order to remove the content.

Search Engine
Provider 41.

(1) An Internet service provider who makes and/or operates a search engine that either automatically or based on entries by others creates an index of Internet-related content or makes available electronic tools to search for information provided by a third party is not liable for search results on condition that the provider:

- a) does not initiate the transmission;
- b) does not select the receiver of the transmission; or does not select or modify the information contained in the transmission.
